2017 YEAR IN REVIEW

Sometimes it seems as though we live in a world of increasing turmoil. Floods, hurricanes, earthquakes, terrorism, war and its resulting refugees, and the plague of poverty: all have taken their time on the world’s stage in the course of 2017.

And yet, the spirit of humanity continues to endure: from the thousands who opened their hearts and homes to those who have been displaced, to the multitudes that responded with donations of time, money and support to those who have seemingly lost their all for a moment. Add to that hosts of others who have continued, day in and day out, to quietly go about doing the good to which they have committed.

Globus Relief is proud to have a hand in helping these exemplary humanitarians along their way. In 2017, we sent over $42 million in medical supplies, instruments and equipment to over 40 countries across the world, with $18 million going to refugee care in Turkey and other host countries alone. More than 890 orders went through 170 local, domestic and international partners to aid in their humanitarian missions, from animal welfare and free local dental care to hospital upgrades and international medical missions. In addition, Globus Relief directly donated more than $300,000 in medical supplies to aid in disaster relief in Puerto Rico and other areas. 2017 also saw the induction of two new countries, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Kyrgyzstan, onto Globus Relief’s long list of countries served.

In 2018, we look forward to increased growth, both in terms of breadth of reach as we extend our relationship with our existing charity partners and engage new ones, as well as in the depth of our impact as we continue to focus on maximizing the application and use of all donated product. We thank all those who continue to support us, whether through invaluable donations, as a dedicated charity partner or spreading the word about Globus Relief’s work. We are excited about the future – a future in which the spirit of humanity continues to outshine the turmoil of life.
